The Top 5 Reasons to Attend the MHWA Fall 2015 Meeting

1. Know more/worry less Learn how to do a thorough risk assessment using a variety of tools
2. Share and exchange ideas – ask questions of your colleagues who really know about your work.
3. Discuss key topics, such as prevention work, clinical outcomes, and meeting demand
4. $20 for 2.5 CE credits
5. Reduce uncertainty about how to respond to students where there is concern about the risk for violence

Keynote Presentation

Contemporary Threat Assessment: College Response to a World at Risk

Reid Meloy, Ph.D., ABPP

Presentation abstract

Dr. Meloy, who has been conducting research and writing on violence risk and threat assessment for the past 25 years, will present the state of the art and science of contemporary threat assessment, drawing on the differences between traditional threat assessment and risk for targeted and intended violence. In particular, he will highlight the role of mental health counseling staff in the dynamic process of threat assessment on campus.

Learning Objectives

After this training, participants will be able to:

Describe three differences and three similarities between violence risk and threat assessment

Discuss contemporary risk management strategies

Explain the role of the mental health professional on a threat assessment team at a community college.

Presenter: Reid Meloy, Ph.D., ABPP

Dr. Meloy is a board-certified forensic psychologist (ABPP) and consults on criminal and civil cases throughout the U.S. and Europe, as well as the Behavioral Analysis Unit of the FBI, Quantico. He is Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at UC San Diego, School of Medicine and is on the faculty of the San Diego Psychoanalytic Center. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences and is past president of the American Academy of Forensic Psychology. His most recent book is the International Handbook of Threat Assessment (Oxford University Press, 2014). He is co-creator of the WAVR-21 (Specialized Training Services, 2007, 2010; www.wavr21.com), a scientifically based structured professional judgment instrument for targeted workplace violence assessment.
